May, 2005

Spring Work Day - May 14

The Indian Creek Spring 2005 work day will be on Saturday, May 14th, rain date May 21. We'll meet at the entrance of the nature area, near the bridge, at 9:00 for coffee and donuts and then get to work. There are four projects planned so we need a lot of volunteers.

- Greg Beneze will lead a crew picking up litter along the highway.
- Sue Arnold will lead a crew pulling invasive garlic mustard.
- Jim Kellenberger will lead a crew clearing saplings from the ditch along Eastwood.
- Jim Russell will lead a crew removing problem trees around the well area.

Please contact one of the crew leaders to volunteer or just show up and join a crew. If we get enough volunteers we may form a fifth crew to apply wood preservative to the tractor shelter and nature area gate posts. Hope to see you on the 14th!

Towanda Area Historical Society

Twenty-nine people attended the April 20th meeting of the Towanda Area Historical Society to continue plans for a historical book of the Towanda area. There was discussion about how the book might be laid out, such as timeline versus areas of interest; several writers or a few; how to make it visually attractive and easy to read. It was decided to seek donations and include advertising in order to defray the cost of publishing the book.

There are many individuals, organizations, and businesses that already have volunteers working on gathering information and writing histories. Many more volunteers will be needed as the project progresses: typists, editors, proofreaders, reviewers, and investigators / researchers. Technical help is needed for photo and document enhancement and computer work. It was mentioned that employees and retirees of State Farm who volunteer 40 hours to this project during 2005 could receive a $500 Good Neighbor Grant to benefit the Society.

Volunteers are needed to provide information about the following:

- Fern's Cafe
- Haines Oil truck stop
- Towanda State Bank
- Other farmsteads and agricultural entities
  - descendents of farm families in the area would be especially valuable
- Early settlers and pioneer families
- Route 66 Geographic Walk

Tuesday, May 24 – A Towanda Area Historical Society general meeting will be held at the Towanda Community Building, 7:00 pm to view material scanned to date for identification of dates, people, etc. and discuss the history update project. Questions, call President Jack Jenkins; 728.2143.

Spring Wildflowers

The spring wildflowers have been outstandingly beautiful this year. Early warm weather brought the flowers out early; the following cool weather extended their stay. Especially striking were the masses of bluebells that blanketed the wooded areas throughout the subdivision. You can see photos and a brief description of the wild flowers found in the subdivision at <http://www.frontiernet.net/~tmogill/icreek/springflowers.htm>.

Birds

At the end of March, Jim Russell sighted a small flock of wild turkeys in the woods between Beneze's and the creek, and then the next day Jim saw six or seven of them crossing the road by the bridge. In April, Tim Mogill sighted a great blue heron cruising the creek by the bridge.

Soil

A neighbor asks: Lately I've been thinking about getting my soil tested for it's pH and was wondering if anyone might have already done so. I read recently that adding gypsum to clay soil aids in breaking it down and improving the ground. I'd like advice as to how much to use, say per square foot. I'm aware that soil testing can be done by the UI extension office, but was hoping this would be quicker. Any advice is appreciated!

Marta Mason answers: Don't add gypsum to the soil. In certain areas it can be beneficial, but McLean county is not one of them. Because of the composition, adding gypsum seems to initially break down the soil, but will make the soil more basic (high pH). The extension office does not advise adding gypsum to McLean County soil. To make the soil more friable, which is what you want, you could add a mix of sand and topsoil. I have had great luck with that. You may want to mix in sphagnum peat too, enough to be able to work the soil.

The extension office does not test soil, but they could provide you with the right connections and tell you how to take soil samples. As far as this area though, we all have clay, which means a slightly higher pH than normal. However, the nutrients are quite high in clay. It is just a matter of getting the soil workable.

Garden Club Redux

If anyone is interested in reviving the Indian Creek Garden Club, please email me at hmogill@frontiernet.net or call me at 728-2048. If there is enough interest, I'll try to set up a meeting. Suggestions for meeting topics would be appreciated. ## Satellite Maps On the Web

Check out Google's new satellite maps. The site is <http://maps.google.com> - you can search by location e.g. Towanda Il, etc. or include a street address along with city and state (although I couldn't get our subdivision streets recognized). You can scroll around the town or thru the countryside by following highways, rivers etc. You can zoom in for close-ups or out for a wide view. Click on Satellite in upper right corner screen right after entering a location in the search entry field and you will get an aerial view rather than a street map. Apparently the images are 6 to 12 months old....but still kind of cool. Enjoy!
